

For immediate release
June 2010

Aberdeen City litterers fined in national crack down

Scotland took a zero tolerance approach to littering on Thursday 10th June, educating people about the consequences of dropping litter and issuing fixed penalty notices across the country to those caught in the act - and 10 were in Aberdeen City.

For the third year running, Keep Scotland Beautiful teamed up with 18 local authorities - including Aberdeen City - along with police forces for a single national day of action to educate and target those trashing our streets and open spaces with their disgusting habits.

During the day of action on litter 235 uniformed officers from local authorities and police forces across Scotland worked together throughout the day patrolling the streets and open spaces of Scotland, educating and where necessary issuing warnings to under 16's .

The national day of action on litter aimed to raise the profile of the low-level crime and demonstrate to the public that the enforcement agencies have a serious desire to tackle it. Despite 66% of the Scottish public being aware that a fixed penalty notice (FPN) of £50 could be issued to those caught in the act, and 7,537 Fixed Penalty Notices being handed out in 2008/09 (152 of these were in Aberdeen City), many people still do not know of anyone who has been fined. So, local councils across Scotland, in partnership with the police forces and Keep Scotland Beautiful, were out on the day, issuing FPNs to anyone they saw dropping litter.

John Summers OBE, Chief Executive of Keep Scotland Beautiful, said, "The day of action has demonstrated that Scottish local authorities and police forces are committed to tackling littering. By working in partnership across the country we have taken a stand against low level crimes, such as littering, and demonstrated that it will no longer be taken lightly.

“It is clear that littering is still a big problem if more than 310 fixed penalty notices of £50 were issued to people on a single day in Scotland, with 10 of these being in Aberdeen City but by continuing to educate people, provide better services and issue fines we are united in our approach to make our communities safer, stronger, greener and cleaner”.

Aberdeen City Council Housing and Environment Convener Councillor Aileen Malone said, ‘Aberdeen’s public spaces are for everyone to enjoy and everyone has a responsibility to clean up after themselves.

"Leaving rubbish lying not only has an environmental impact, it also has a detrimental affect on other people's enjoyment of these areas. It is always the minority who spoil it for the majority.

"I would urge anyone using Aberdeen's public spaces to either put their rubbish in the bin or take it home and remind people that littering is an offence. Littering and fly-tipping have a very negative impact on Aberdeen, both environmentally and aesthetically. There is no excuse for it.’

Grampian Police Sergeant Andy MacLean said, "We are committed to working with our partners at Aberdeen City Council and Keep Scotland Beautiful to deal with anti social behaviour in whatever form it takes.

"Littering is an issue which affects many communities and through supporting campaigns such as this we can reassure the wider public that Aberdeen city centre remains a safe, pleasant and tidy environment for people to live, work and socialise in."

- Ends -

For further information please contact Juliette Camburn on 01786 468796 or e-mail juliette.camburn@ksbscotland.org.uk

Keep Scotland Beautiful is an operating name of Environmental Campaigns (Scotland).
Scottish Charity Number SC030332

Please visit <http://news.keepsotlandbeautiful.org/LitterActionDay.asp> for further information or to download relevant photos.

For a list of local authorities, police forces and other organisations who participated in the Litter Action day, visit <http://www.keepsotlandbeautiful.org/index.asp?pg=372>

Note to the Editors

- Keep Scotland Beautiful (KSB) is an environmental charity which aims to protect, preserve and enhance the environment of town and country in Scotland for the benefit of the public. Keep Scotland Beautiful administers the People and Places, Keep Scotland Tidy, Blue Flag and Seaside Award, and the Eco-Schools environmental programmes along with the Sustainable Scotland Network, Climate Challenge Fund and Going Carbon Neutral Stirling campaigns.
- The first Litter Day of Action took place in 2008. A total of 155 uniformed officers patrolled Scotland and 178 fixed penalty notices were issued, along with a number of warnings.
- The second Litter Day of Action in 2009 was supported by 24 local authorities, 4 police forces, the Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS), Royal Environmental Health Institute of Scotland (REHIS), Chartered Institution of Wastes Management (CIWM), Amey and Loch Lomond and Trossachs National Park. 252 uniformed officers issued a total of 198 fixed penalty notices, along with a number of warnings.
- This third Litter Day of Action was supported by 18 local authorities, and police forces. 235 uniformed officers issued a total of 313 fixed penalty notices, along with a number of warnings.
- Scottish Local Authorities have a statutory duty to 'keep relevant land clear of litter and refuse as far as is practicable' under the Environmental Protection Act (EPA) 1990. (Section 89(1)). Further details on the EPA can be found at www.littercode.org
- Authorised local authority officers or a police constable can issue fixed penalty notices for littering. The EPA allows people suspected of having committed an offence under the Act to be issued with a fixed penalty notice as an alternative to criminal prosecution
- In a survey carried out in June 2009, 26 of the 27 local authorities who responded had adopted the fixed penalty scheme for littering with 20 of these authorities issuing a total of 7,537 fixed penalty notices during 08/09. 4,563 of these notices were paid within the 14 days allowed, and of those not paid, 1,275 resulted in enforcement through the Sheriff Court.
- KSB estimates it costs local authorities around £100 million a year to clear litter from public land.